

WE MAKE BERLIN FAIR.

WHY FAIR TRADE

FAIR TRADE WORKS

Fair trade is a hands-on approach with 50 years of experience. It shows how fair, sustainable trade can succeed by

- creating awareness through information
- transparent supply chains
- fair, transparent prices
- supporting producers to gain market access
- strengthening value creation in the producing countries

It also links the social dimension with the ecological dimension – because trade justice is a prerequisite for climate justice.

With its many success stories fair trade provides impetus for sustainable economic activities as well as transforming political frameworks.

The Fair Chocolate of our Capital

Tastes good and shows that climate-friendly and socially responsible business works! All ingredients are produced 100 % fairly and organically. Thanks to long-term trading relationships, stable prices well above world market levels and the payment of additional premiums, over 13,000 co-operative members and their families in 6 countries benefit directly from the sale of chocolate.

Fair sporting goods – #BerlinPlaysFair

10,000 fairly traded balls and sports textiles are already in use in Berlin – in sports clubs, on soccer pitches and at competitions. And schools can also only order fair footballs through the state of Berlin. Let's make sure that soon only fair balls will be roll, bounce or fly through our capital!

Fair school meals - tasty & just

Around 165,000 lunches are distributed in schools all over Berlin every day. This amounts to 30 tonnes of rice, half a million bananas and many thousands of pineapples every year. The administrations of the Berlin Senate as well as some districts have worked to ensure that these products will only be sourced from certified Fair Trade since the school year of 2020/21. What works throughout Berlin can also send a positive signal to other municipalities!
